A message from our children...

Dear Community,

We sleep in fear. We wake in fear. We walk in fear. We live in fear. We are afraid and saddened about what is happening in our world. We are concerned that some people do not know what is happening. These people must not know or they would stop this hurting of children.

We want to stop the child abuse and killing. We are young and weaker than adults and think, therefore, that we do not have the power to do this.

We are writing to plead to you who do know how, please stop it.

We believe drugs and inability to sanely solve problems are behind much of the violence. We all need to take responsibility for what we are doing. Parents, if you don't want us, don't have us...and then, please God, maybe you won't kill us.

We know parents have problems. Don't take them out on children. You know it's not right for us to live in violence. Please, please get help...for your pain and ours. Do you like killing us? Do you? We don't like it.

We desperately need your help. Do you feel our anguish? We are so sorry for our world and for those innocent, helpless children who have died. Please save us and all children from these fears and death.

We need your help now for all of our futures.

Former athletic director succumbs to cancer

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

A man who was well liked among the youth population in Belle Glade lost the fight for life Friday, Nov. 4, when he died of cancer in West Palm Beach. Dan Brown had been a patient with Hospice for one week.

Mr. Brown was the former athletic director at Glades Central Community High School as well as a science teacher. According to his wife, Sharon, he was still in his body, doctors operated again in 1993. His wife said he started feeling better and he returned back to work and began completing his daily routine and regular tasks. Later, Mr. Brown got sick again.

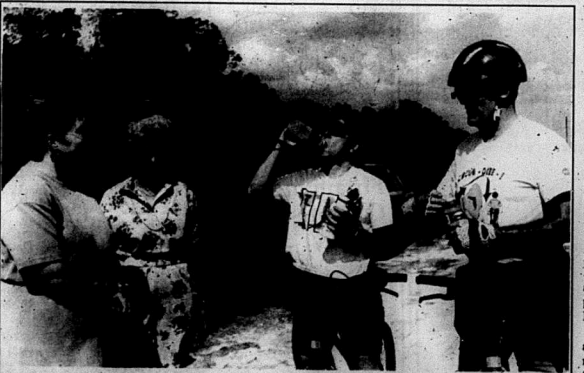

Because of the illness and the toll the disease had taken on the body, Mr. Brown could not return back to GOCH for the 1994-95 school year. According to his wife, "he knew he was sick but he always kept the faith."

Mr. Brown was admitted to Everglades Regional Medical Center, Pahokee, on Oct. 10 because he was diagnosed as having a low blood count. He was later released and he returned home where he was cared for by his wife, a sister, Veronica Daniels, a brother, Alexander Brown, and cousin, Barbara Jean Williams.

When Mr. Brown's pains became unbearable for him, the family opted to have him moved to Hospice in West Palm Beach on Oct. 29. Mr. Brown deceased Nov. 4. Funeral services will be held Saturday, Nov. 12, at 11 a.m. in the GOCH gymnasium.

Mr. Brown was a graduate of GGCH and a graduate of Milliken University, Decatur, Ill., in 1971 where he played football. He had coached football at few schools, including Milliken University, before returning to his alma mater to coach and later become the athletic director. He was a member of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, and he was inducted into the Milliken University Football Hall of Fame in 1976.

Grassy Waters Festival an enormous success

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

The annual festival which promotes the City of Pahokee and the chamber was a huge success and many reports claim it was bigger and better than last year's festival.

The Nov. 3 event on the dike in Pahokee was a success and members of the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce are proud of the accomplishments they've made in hosting the Grassy Waters Festival and Car Show.

The Pahokee Police Department was available to dismantle any types of disturbances but their assistance with that matter was not necessary as there were no reports of disturbances throughout the festival. The Pahokee JROTC also assisted the police with traffic and crowd control.

According to Dick Meyer, festival co-chairman, "There were well over 1,000 people in attendance."

For festival winners and more information, see page 9 of The SUN.

Family whose son was contaminated by mercury sues landowner

Brenda Bunting

A lawsuit was filed Monday morning by an attorney representing one of the families affected by the mercury contamination.

Attorney Steven Duhl, representing Martha and Eliazar Camacho, said he filed the suit against the property owner where a van with four pounds of hazardous mercury were found.

The owner of the property, Tammy Housch, has maintained that the west-covered van located on the back corner of his property at 824 N.E. 25th Street, Belle Glade, does not belong to him.

"I've known Martha (Camacho) for a long time," said Attorney Duhl. "She spoke with me about the incident shortly after it happened."

Hurston Museum Grand Opening this Saturday

"It will be the end of a long road that the Zora Neale Hurston Museum has traveled since early 1993, when a ribbon cutting celebration on Saturday marks the completion of the first phase of the museum's building renovation project."

Area residents are invited to attend the celebration, which will begin at 10:45 a.m. with African drummers and last until 5 p.m., and will feature a dedication ceremony, continuous musical performances, souvenirs and refreshments. Among performers will be ACAPAI puppeteers of Miami, dancers from Rosenwald Elementary School.

United States Sugar President J. Nelson Fairbanks, and local retired educator Gethrell Singleton will serve as honorary co-chairmen of the Saturday event. "We're looking forward to a great day," said Museum Chairperson Mary O. Evans. "Even though our renovation project is phased, and we're only able to use a fraction of the building, we have reason to celebrate."

For additional information on the Zora Neale Hurston Museum or the grand opening ceremonies, please call 996-2161.

Woman escapes house and calls police on burglar

Brenda Bunting

Police chased down and arrested a man they say broke into the home of Mozella Fuller, age 84, of 1241 S.W. Martin Luther King Blvd., Apt. 1, Belle Glade.

Belle Glade Police Det. B.K. Davis and Patrolman Kevin Kuschell responded to the call about a residential burglary in progress at Ms. Fuller's home on Friday night.

According to the report, upon arrival at the scene, they saw a man running for the rear area of the home. Det. Davis and Ptm. Kuschell chased the man along the 1300 block of S.W. Avenue C Place and he tried to hide from the officers, but they found him.

The man was later identified as Byron Jenkins, 32, of 1309 S.W. Martin Luther King Blvd., Apartment 2.

Ms. Fuller later said she had heard someone trying to get in her back door and then through a bathroom window. She said when she realized someone was trying to get in her home, she ran to a neighbors house and called police.

Jenkins was charged with attempted burglary of an occupied dwelling and taken to the Belle Glade Police Station for processing. He was then taken to the Palm Beach County Jail where his bond was set at $3,000.

By Mike Lyons

The right place at the right time. Some folks might argue that phrase is one of the definitions of success. Others, however, would suggest that while it is important to seize opportunity one must be prepared as well.

Spencer Christian, the popular weatherman on ABC's Good Morning America, was in the right place at the right time in 1972. What's more, he was ready to answer that door of opportunity.

"I became a weather forecaster by accident," Mr. Christian told me the other day. It happened in Richmond, Va where Mr. Christian was working as a news reporter for WWBT-TV.

"Our regular forecaster was sick," Mr. Christian said. "Our boss asked if anyone would like to volunteer as the weatherman's replacement." There were not any takers. The idea of talking about a subject they were unsure of was a frightening idea to most of the reporters.

"I thought it would be fun," Mr. Christian said. "I had a background in science and my year as a school teacher had left me pretty comfortable talking for long periods. So, I volunteered."

You can probably guess what happened. Mr. Christian was so comfortable that soon he was the regular weather person. Within four years, Mr. Christian was talking about the weather to a much larger audience in New York City. And in 1986, his weather broadcasts were seen around the country when he joined Good Morning America.

Last week, Mr. Christian came to West Palm Beach to help the city celebrate its 100th birthday. The day before his broadcast he spent the afternoon with me talking about weather, television and not getting enough sleep.

"It's one of the most frequently asked questions," Mr. Christian told me. "What time do you get up in the morning?" The answer is very, very early.

Good Morning America begins its live broadcast each morning at 7 a.m. Mr. Christian, and the other folks who work on the show, arrive hours earlier. "I get up at 3:45 each morning," he said. "I'm at the studio by 4:30 and it's non-stop till around 10:30."

Mr. Christian spends the hours before the show pouring over weather maps with his meteorological assistant. He may also meet with producers to discuss a science feature that will be airing during the program. Then, it's off to the studio for two hours of live network television.

Last Friday morning Mr. Christian took his show on the road with live broadcasts from downtown West Palm Beach. In two hours, he produced six segments including interviews with the mayor and local historians along with showing off a 25 foot birthday cake.

The highlight of the morning (as far as I'm concerned) came shortly after 8 a.m. when Mr. Christian asked me to join him on the show. I have to admit I was a bit nervous but Mr. Christian helped calm my nerves with his warm smile and easy demeanor. After Mr. Christian introduced me as his "tag-team weather partner," I cracked a quick smile, described the nation's weather and told the network audience that our weather was beautiful. It was all over in about 90 seconds.

Always the professional, Mr. Christian told me I did a great job. My head was still spinning as a producer whisked Mr. Christian away to his next interview subject. After all, Mr. Christian's work was far from over. There were other folks waiting to seize an opportunity since they were now in the right place at the right time. Just like Mr. Christian 20 years ago.

Mike Lyons is the weatherman for WPBF, Channel 25.

Michelle R. Williams selected Student of the Month

Palm Beach Community College's Glades Campus announces the selection of Michelle R. Williams as Student of the Month. To be selected for this honor, a student must show outstanding academic achievement, leadership and involvement. A resident of Pahokee, Ms. Williams, 20, plans to receive her degree in business/computer science and then continue in the field of law.

"One of the most interesting and educational experiences I've had was the opportunity to tour with my high school choral group for five years. The group toured throughout Georgia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana and Florida performing at the Shriners Hospital, nursing homes, children's homes and shelters for the homeless," said Ms. Williams.

At the college, Ms. Williams is a member of Phi Theta Kappa National Honor Society, an active member of student government, an honor student and has made the Dean's List. She received a scholarship from the Alice V. Larick Memorial Fund and works as a student tutor on campus.

"We are very proud of Michelle's achievements," said Dean of Students Ken Ray.

Palm Beach Community College provides a wide range of study opportunities for residents of the Glades area.

Information on winter classes is now available. For more information, stop by the college or call 992-6162.

Kick'm all out

I was just reading in The Palm Beach Post where it says that some of the county commissioners don't like chain-linked fences.

Well, I think it's about time we voted all the county commissioners out and got a new slate. They talk about experience. We don't need anybody with any experience in there to run the county 'cause we got a bunch of dumb bells anyway.

Why don't we just let the county pay for all the fencing and they can put up what they want to?

an hour during the Glades Central Homecoming parade to try to get the Homecoming King and Queen. We, along with many other people, were unaware of the change in the parade route. The procession did not come by Hand Park until the very last and there was over a 20 minute gap between parts of the parade. We opted to use the photo of the School of CHOICE's queen and her court because we could no longer wait after more than an hour for the remaining portion of the parade.
Thank you for Speaking Out.

Bad use of food stamps

In a local market I saw a woman use food stamps to pay for a 3 x 2 deli cake heavily decorated.

I thought food stamps were for necessary, nutritious daily meals for those who needed them. Where have I been misled?

I have a birthday coming up. We will ask all taxpayers to pay for my celebration.

Good point

Although the local mercury contamination was unfortunate, I ask on what grounds can the involved families sue the City of Belle Glade?

The youths initially involved were obviously unsupervised by adults, and more importantly, trespassing.

While the van and its contents should have been removed, that fact does not excuse children from being accountable and for being on other's property without consent or permission.

Where are public school photos?

I am appalled at The Sun. You did not feature any colored or any picture at all of Miss Glades Central Community High School as well as Miss Pahokee Junior/Senior High School.

Now, we will see next week if there will be a picture on the front page cover of Miss Glades Day.

I am again appalled. I thought The Sun was bigger than that. I hope maybe The Sun can prove me wrong, but this is a shame. We're in the 90's. I thought everybody was treated equal.

Editor's note: We try very hard to cover as much of the news in our communities as possible and are sorry if we have disappointed you. Both of those events were covered. Pahokee's Homecoming King and Queen were in the sports section of last week's edition.

We waited along the parade route for over

"IF I TOLD YOU ONCE... I TOLD YOU A THOUSAND TIMES... HE'S NOTHING BUT A CLOWN."

Red Cross needs emergency volunteers

Every hour, every day - there are disasters. Palm Beach County is no exception. Last year the American Red Cross Palm Beach County Chapter helped 80 families - a total of 320 people whose homes were destroyed or harmed by fire.

The Red Cross is a congressionally chartered organization which receives no money from the government but instead is an independent organization which interprets the American people's caring into help for families whose lives have been devastated by disaster.

In Palm Beach County, the local American Red Cross needs volunteers to help in the Emergency Services Department. The American Red Cross is an organization led by volunteers and needs volunteers who can commit spare time to become trained providers of the American Red Cross emergency services.

The Red Cross does not wait until disaster strikes. It is prepared to respond to hurricanes, floods, earthquakes, tornadoes, fires, hazardous materials incidents, and other disasters.

Red Cross volunteers come from all walks of life and all segments of the community. They share the willingness to serve and the desire to help those in need.

The Palm Beach County Chapter of the American Red Cross needs volunteers who are interested in being on a team that determines the level of damage to homes by fires and in disaster areas; or those who can provide computer, communications and clerical support for Emergency Services; and volunteers interested in becoming case workers to help provide emergency communications to military service personnel and their families when crises arise.

It takes commitment. It takes training. Whether you are a banker, or a baby sitter, a carpenter or a case worker, your special skills can help the Red Cross - and the disaster victims.

The American Red Cross gives the American people a vehicle for their caring - a way to help a neighbor.

You may help a stranger rebuild their life after a devastating fire.

A house or apartment fire is a terrifying experience and as you look into the eyes of someone who has lost everything you can see the memories, the pictures, and all that is irreplaceable in each tear that falls from their eyes.

The tears will dry; and, they look to the Red Cross volunteers to help their family start to rebuild their lives and this time they have made new friends.

Your paths may not cross again but you will never forget the family who needed you and this family, you new friends, will never forget the Red Cross volunteer who was there to help put the pieces together.

You may never work harder but it will be the best job you never got paid for.

Your neighbors in Palm Beach County need you, we need you. Please join the team and become a Red Cross volunteer today.

For more information on volunteer opportunities, please call 992-9703.

Mother's dare

Across Florida people are shuddering over the names Smith, Boykin, and Zile. These three mothers were allegedly involved in the murders of their own children and are facing scorn and hatred that seems greater than the loathing of mass murderers Speck and Bundy.

Folks cannot comprehend that a mother would purposefully kill her own child. What is even more irksome to many, is the crocodile tears that these mothers shed while bemoaning the "mysterious" losses of their offspring.

As a psychologist, people have asked me if these women were crazy, or evil, or what? Although there is no definitive answer to these ponderings, I can say that "craziness," or a "stress reaction" cannot fully explain such acts.

That is why people are so shocked - they presume that under any circumstances, a mother's love is sacrosanct and will override any other force, pressure, or external stress.

In the case of Pauline Zile however, it appears doubtful that even the external trappings of such an all-abiding love were ever present. Ms.

Ask Dr. Boltson

Dr. David Boltson is the associate director of the Western Palm Beach County Mental Health Clinic in Belle Glade, and is a licensed psychologist in private practice in Lake Worth.

Zile did not care for her daughter Christina for most of her life. Moreover, she allegedly allowed (did not stop) the continuing abuse that occurred to Christina while she was in her care.

On the face of it, the cases of Smith and Boykin are more puzzling. Neighbors and family members in South Carolina and Royal Palm Beach allege that these appeared to be typical loving mothers. However, just because two people get married and produce a child, does not imply that either party is conscientious or capable of maintaining a mature relationship. Perhaps these Moms just didn't have that much to give. Their own insecurities and needs may have been too great.

One of the hallmark characteristics of meaningful motherhood is in the ability to give unconditional, and selfless love to one's children. Both Smith and Boykin have claimed that they killed their own children in order to win back the affection of their spouses. While the logic of such thinking is obviously irrational and bizarre, the selfishness implicit in such a notion is unfortunately quite common. They (grossly) rejected the basic responsibility of caring for their offspring.

So, in response to the priority regarding mothers who kill their own, I would have to say that yes, they perhaps have manifested quite a bit more "evil" than one typically associates with motherhood. In that sense, whether or not they have concomitant psychological problems is irrelevant. I am not so concerned about the impact of these particular women on society, as it is very easy for most of us to point the finger at these women, to separate them from ourselves, and declare them cruelly and unusually different.

I am more concerned however, by the typical child abuse that is less sensationalistic but is unfortunately epidemic in our society. Furthermore, I worry greatly about the lack of dedication to motherhood that is not even characterized as "abuse." As parents, we should all be concerned when a mother feels too busy, or too stressed to show her children that above all, she loves them, loves them, and then loves them more.

(Mothers don't have to be particularly smart, talented, athletic, or creative to raise their children well. They do have to however, be committed to devoted time, and to demonstrating concern and love towards their children in all they do.)

What sounds like so little, can also be too much for many. So let us not just safely deny.

Grassy Waters Festival & Car Show full of enjoyment

The bed race was a race filled with much laughter, cheering and all out fun! The individual riding on the bed was also considered a team member but that individual was also the person getting the ride of their life.

No, I'm not trying to cool, man. It's so sunny-out here I'm trying to keep the sun out of my eyes.

The Brown Bear was so huggable, everyone walking by had to stop and give him a hug. The bear was an extremem hit with the younger festival goers.

Chamber executive secretary Alice Tyson enjoys the festival while she helps with monitoring the event. Mrs. Tyson was also served on the Grassy Waters Committee.

This old-fashioned Florida Highway Patrol car was featured at the car show along with many other antique and well-kept vehicles.

All-in-all, the festival was a success and the fresh-squeezed, lemonade, conch fritters, barbecue, pretzels, popsicles, etc., etc., were delicious too.

Hana'a plans to attend the University of Pennsylvania after graduation.

The homecoming parade was a huge success thanks to all the faculty, parents and students who worked long hours to show off their creativity. All of the floats looked great and so did the decorated "camouflaged" vehicles carrying the elementary students.

Congratulations are also in order for the juniors and the freshmen who won the homecoming float competition. The juniors' theme was "Gators Drop the Bomb" with a Gator in an airplane dropping a bomb. The freshmen then was "Sands of Patriotism" featured Gator "football players" setting up a flag in the midst of war (much like the real thing).

The Gators topped off the week with a big victory over American Heritage and a homecoming dance for grades ninth through 12th.

Grassy Waters Festival & Car Show full of enjoyment

The bed race was a race filled with much laughter, cheering and all out fun! The individual riding on the bed was also considered a team member but that individual was also the person getting the ride of their life.

No, I'm not trying to cool, man. It's so sunny out here I'm trying to keep the sun out of my eyes.

The Brown Bear was so huggable, everyone walking by had to stop and give him a hug. The bear was an extremem hit with the younger festival goers.

This little line dancer is expecting her mom to pick her up plus enjoy the festival. She said, "Come on mom, hold me."

Chamber executive secretary Alice Tyson enjoys the festival while she helps with monitoring the event. Mrs. Tyson was also served on the Grassy Waters Committee.

Jerry Curtis provided music and hits from the 40's and 50's at the lakeside entertainment tent. The afternoon festival goers were treated to country line dancing in front of the entertainment tent.

This old-fashioned Florida Highway Patrol car was featured at the car show along with many other antique and well-kept vehicles. All-in-all, the festival was a success and the fresh-squeezed, lemonade, conch fritters, barbecue, pretzels, popsicles, etc., etc., were delicious too.

Clarification

In the Oct. 27, 1994 edition of The Sun, we featured an article pertaining to the life of Rebecca Kepp. We received numerous calls which stated "the readers thought it was an obituary for Mrs. Kepp." However, it was not an obituary and Mrs. Kepp is doing very well. Here she is in a photo taken from the left. We regret any inconvenience this may have caused.

Sugar goes through several processes before going to kitchens

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

Sugar is defined as a sweet crystalline substance obtained especially from sugarcane and the sugar beet. Because of South Florida's sub-tropical climate, the tall grass that is called sugarcane is grown thus producing thousands of jobs and helping boost Western Palm Beach County's and Hendry County's economy.

The highly organic, dark and black muck soil enable the sugarcane to be grown in a fashion that many of the farmers can associate themselves with. Not only grown in muck, the sugarcane can also be grown in sand.

Harvesting season for sugarcane at United States Sugar began Oct. 25. The season will continue through March 21.

During the growing process of sugarcane, much time is spent making sure the irrigation process is complete and up to par.

The irrigation for the sugarcane is provided by controlling the level of the water table under the soil. Irrigation through the raising of the water table is necessary primarily during the dry season.

The amount of fertilizer, and chemicals are kept at a minimum to reduce the sugar content of the sugar. When fertilizer is used it is placed directly onto the seed cane in the furrow.

According to officials at U.S. Sugar, sugarcane is relatively an easy crop to maintain and it is significant because it does not have to be replanted year-after-year. The cane is planted in 3-4 year intervals.

Once the cane has matured to a point where it can be harvested, expensive machinery, trucks, and other equipment are used. The sugarcane fields are set afire only to clear the sugarcane rows of weeds and wildlife. The burning of the fields before harvesting does not affect the sugar.

The burning of the fields is monitored strictly by agencies. The agencies will determine if a specific field can be burned by the direction the wind is blowing. Fields are not burned if they are not approved prior to the burning.

When flames have burned out, the harvesting process begins and machinery is permitted to enter the fields and cut the rows of sugarcane. The machinery automatically separates the trash that might be in the fields from the actual cane.

When much of the harvesting went mechanical, many of the foreign cane cutters were not needed for the harvest. U.S. Sugar continues to employ 1,300 Jamaican cane cutters, claiming "they are much gentler to the cane than the machines are," said U.S. Sugar Director of Communications Judy C. Sanchez. She also said U.S. Sugar harvests about 78 percent of the cane by machinery, and 22 percent by hand.

Mrs. Sanchez said the cane cutters are required to wear metal shields during harvesting, and appropriate clothing.

She also said the company provides living accommodations for the workers, and meals. Their living quarters are equipped with a small convenience store and laundry facilities.

During harvesting, machines cut sugarcane in rows and at the time, it separates the trash from the actual cane. The harvesting season must be complete in 146 days, and weather plays an important part in the harvest.

Following the harvesting of the cane, it is taken for distribution into railroad cars that will transport the cane to the sugar mill. The mill is the space where the sugarcane will turn from cane into raw sugar, that is sold to different refineries where it will be refined, and sold for human consumption.

The sugarcane is delivered to the mill by rail cars which weigh approximately 35 tons each. The cars are tilted and opened on one side and the cane is dumped on a conveying system.

Once the cane is in the mill, it is crushed and juices are extracted. The residual fiber, known as bagasse, is used to generate the steam and electricity that is used to operate the factory.

The sugarcane juice has a pH level of approximately 5.5. Therefore, it is treated with lime and heated to a boiling point. The liming process neutralizes the acidity and prevents the inversion of sucrose.

Clarification takes place because combined heat and lime is the formation of a heavy precipitate from the clear juice is accomplished by continuous decantation.

Clarification juices contain about 85 percent water. Most of this water is removed in steam-heated multiple-effect evaporators under vacuum. Syrup is produced from the evaporation station.

The crystallization process of sugar out of syrup or molasses is carried out in large vessels which are called vacuum pans.

The first step in sugar boiling is seeding. The mixture of the sugar crystals and syrup or molasses is called massecuite.

The crystallization process continues in crystallizers where the massecuite is cured by a process of slow cooling and stirring. The mixture must be stirred for 36 hours. This process increases the recovery of sucrose from the molasses.

Sugar crystals are separated from molasses which is accomplished in centrifugals. The centrifugal consists of a drum covered with a fine screen rotating at a speed of 1,200 rpm on its vertical axis. The molasses is forced through the screen, leaving the raw sugar as the finished product.

The raw sugar is transported, from the mill to warehouses where it is stored. Refineries purchase the raw sugar and refine it into white sugar.

Raiders overpower Cobras; next event: The MUCK BOWL!

Senior Marcus Bowie fills in for injured James Jackson

By Alexa Lutz

Get ready fans! It's almost time for the MUCK BOWL!

Friday night at Pahokee, the Glades Central Community High School Raiders take on the Pahokee Blue Devils in the final regular game of the season.

The Blue Devils have had their problems since lightning struck members of the team at practice. Last week they took their fourth straight loss from Olympic Heights.

The Raiders, on the other hand, are back in the winner's arena having defeated Fort Pierce Central last Thursday night 16-10.

At first it looked like the Raiders and Cobras would be neck-and-neck for the entire evening. With a 1-yard run by quarterback Jajuan Seider, and a 7-yard run by Fort Pierce Central, the first quarter ended in a dead heat at 7-7.

By the end of the half, the Raiders had taken the lead 10-7 with a 27-yard field goal by Gerald Louis.

The third quarter was scoreless, but at the beginning of the fourth quarter, Fort Pierce added three points with a field goal leaving the scoreboard with a 10-10 tie. With only 5:06 left in the ball game, Seider hit Nathaniel Freeman with a 14-yard touchdown pass. This gave the Raiders a 16-10 win against the Cobras.

The Raiders' defense was led by senior Johnny Rutledge who had 16 tackles. According to Milton Watson, head football coach, "He's (Rutledge) a man. If I was going to Vietnam, I'd want Johnny Rutledge with me."

"I knew we would eventually score. The only question was whether it would be a pass or a run," said Seider. "Freeman was wide open so I hit him in the numbers."

The Raiders and the Cobras finished almost equal in first downs with the Raiders having 13 and the Fort Pierce making 12. The Cobras rushed for 165 yards, while the Raiders rushed for 146 yards. Central crushed Fort Pierce in the passing category having 174 yards, and the Cobras only had 9.

Penalties met the Raiders as they were penalized eight times for 95 yards, and the Cobras were penalized three times for a total of 25 yards.

After tomorrow night's game, the Raiders will be preparing for the playoffs. Although Clewiston won the District 14-A title with a win against Southfork last Friday night, the Raiders also qualify for the playoffs.

As for now, the Raiders are concentrating on the traditional rivalry of the Raiders and the Blue Devils, for the annual MUCK BOWL trophy.

"We are going to go out, play hard and have fun," the Raider Robert Newkirk.

Johnny Rutledge

Pahokee falls to Olympic Heights, however, Blue Devils hoping to defeat Raiders

By Robbie Everett

Is it a jinx or what? The Pahokee Blue Devil gridders faced yet another heartbreaking loss last week to Olympic Heights.

This season has been a series of mishaps for the Blue Devils, and along with the tragedy of losing a player to death, they have been kept out of the playoff for the first time in several years.

They've had a lightning bolt strike the team, a teammate fatally wounded, and several key injuries.

One player that had suffered cramps during the week went down on a play and was called for faking against the referee last Friday night.

Was that referee a doctor or what? The penalty was a key one since the Blue Devils were threatening to score from the 2-yard line with 8 seconds left to play in the first half.

I ask you, was that a bad call?

The Blue Devils took a 6-0 lead on the first play from scrimmage with a 58-yard run by Lafann Williams.

Olympic Heights scored the Blue Devils led 14-7 at halftime.

The lead seasawed with the Devil controlling the game.

The Lions scored taking a 15-14 lead.

Blue Devil quarterback

Jababres Everett scored on a 1-yard run, thus regaining the lead 20-15.

A fumble and penalty gave the Lions a break and they were able to score with 1:56 left to play.

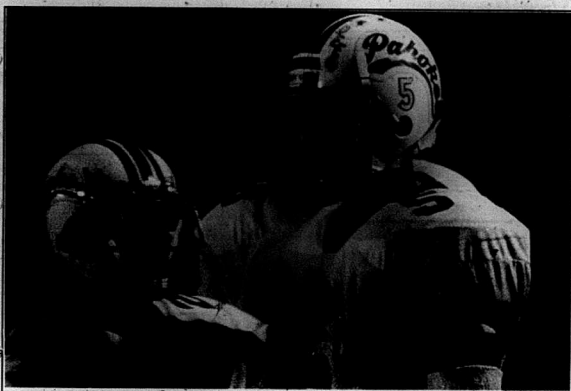

The Blue Devils were unable to capitalize on the last possession.

Williams had 156 yards rushing for the Blue Devils.

Everett completed 11 of 21 passes for 145 yards.

The team's total yards was 307.

The Blue Devils are presently preparing for competition with the Raiders in the MUCK BOWL. The annual game gets underway at 7:30 p.m. in Pahokee.

Members of the Blue Devil football team talk with each other and help with strategies during the ballgame.

Raiders' coach believes practice, dedication and commitment makes for a good team

Tammy Jackson Staff Reporter

With Glades Central Community High School's football team experience the success that they are, Milton Watson, head football coach, is still taking one game at a time. The Raiders have only lost one game this season and coach Watson said with practice, dedication and overall commitment, they can still dream of becoming district champions and maybe state champions.

Coach Watson joined the Raider family this school year having relocated her from another area, therefore it was his responsibility to learn the players, the coaching staff and the community. Although Coach Watson had been an assistant coach at another high school, being the head football coach for the Raiders was a task that he knew he wanted to succeed at.

As reported in the Oct. 6, 1994 edition of The SUN,

Coach Watson enforces of strict regimen of discipline. He said, "If the players discipline themselves, we (the team) will succeed."

The only loss the Raiders have experienced this year came at the hands of the Clewiston Tigers. Being that the match-up was a district game, even made the loss more painful said Coach Watson. "We defeated all of our other opponents in district play but when we lost to Clewiston, that was a real shocker," said the coach. "If we had won that game we would have been the district champs."

Coming off of an intense game with the Suncoast Chargers and then an open week of action before playing Clewiston, according to the coach, "We just didn't take them (the Tigers) seriously. We weren't prepared." The Raiders went into Tiger territory not expecting to come home on the losing end but the home team was not going to let the Raiders return to Belle Glade with a victory.

Pertaining to the Tigers, Coach Watson said, "They're a good ball team. They're better than what their record shows."

With their loss to the Tigers, the Raiders had no alternative but to wait for the outcome of specific games to know their standing in district action.

The Tigers were named the district winners because Okeechobee defeated Suncoast and Clewiston defeated Southfork. Glades Central was named the runners-up.

According to Coach Watson, the Raiders may have met the Tigers again when playoff action begins but the certainty of that has not been determined yet. Playoff action begins next Friday.

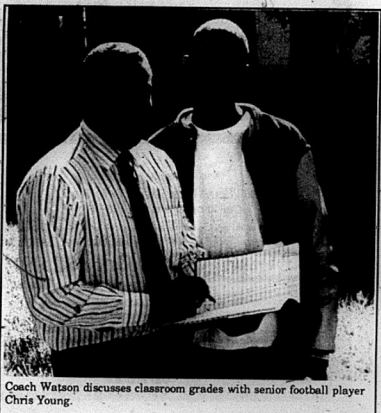

Now with only one regular season game left in the season, Coach Watson is now concentrating on the Pahokee

Blue Devils. He said he has not attended the matchup which is known as the MUCK BOWL (this match up gives bragging rights to the winner of the game), but he said he is aware of the fact that it attracts many fans and it means a lot to the players. The Raiders were the winners of the MUCK BOWL last year.

The coach said he wants to focus a lot on fundamentals and special teams. He also said he wants to eliminate some of the mistakes made previously.

Coach Watson teaches Civics in Schools (drop-out prevention) at GCHS and the class concentrates on effective ways to keep students interested in the learning process.

The Raiders are presently ranked 8-1 for the season, and 3-1 in district action.

Coach Watson discusses classroom grades with senior football player Chris Young.

GDS wins homecoming game, last regular season game away

Homecoming at Glades

Day School has always been filled with excitement and Friday night's game was no exception. The Gators came out fighting and hyped, and in return defeated Plantation American Heritage 34-14.

The Gators are presently ranked 8-1 for the season, and 5-0 in district competition.

Hapa'a Barhoush was announced as the homecoming queen during the halftime festivities.

The Gators will travel to Hollywood Christian tomorrow. Following tomorrow night's game, the Gators will begin extensive practice in preparation for playoff action.

Pahokee selling a piece of the gym floor?

The Pahokee Blue Devils are selling a piece of Blue Devil basketball. What does that mean, you say?

Pahokee Head Basketball Coach and Athletic Director Pete Karas recently announced that Pahokee Basketball Boosters are selling squares on the gym floor for $5. Those persons purchasing squares are invited to visit the floor, buff it with a handkerchief, or even have your picture taken on your piece of the floor.

The coach said the boosters are excited about the basketball season and they will settle for nothing less than a state championship.

According to the coach, "We have a veteran district championship team coming back with some new additions to the roster." He also said their pre-season expectations are high. "The coach went on to say while the men are winning on the court, they are also fighting a tough funding battle off the court. The rising costs of equipment, travel and officiating are becoming more and more expensive. For Pahokee to achieve their goal, it will cost them anywhere from $12,000-$15,000, and most of the funds will go toward travel, officiating, security for games, and conference and state fees.

Those interested in assisting the Pahokee Blue Devil Cagers may purchase as many squares as they'd like, or you may purchase the free-throw lane for $250, or the center circle for $500.

Persons interested are asked to contact Coach Karas at the school, or any basketball player.

Homecoming for the Gators means more than school activities. It also means the big homecoming football game that culminates the week-long festivities.
